

A NOTE TO PARENTS

Hey Parents!

We just finished week 2 of quarantine and I've heard and read all kinds of stories of how you are keeping your sanity! I just want to say that you are doing an incredible job! I see pictures of kids with big smiles. I see things you are doing for your neighbors. I see you leading your kids through activities in the Word. I am so proud of you!

If you haven't heard it yet this week - hear this from me - WAY TO GO PARENTS! I know you are exhausted and looking for when this will all end, but remember, for some reason, God has given us this time with our families. Maybe this is a time we can all refocus and find new rhythms for how we are leading our beautiful kids. Maybe this is a time to pray over your children like never before. Or maybe it's a time to just have some downtime and FUN! We all have wished for more time to do more things with our families. It's here so let's do it!

I want you to know you can reach out to me anytime if you need anything. If I need to drop something by your home or have a phone call or video chat with your kids - I'd love to do that! If you need creative ideas or a break for 15 minutes from teaching - let me know! Happy to help!

In these moments, my resolve is to bring God praise. He is good and he loves us. Praise God for these days and let him show you beautiful things. Much love to you all!
